Skier visits down again in Newry

For the third year in a row Sunday River sees a decline in visits for the period that includes Christmas vacation week and Martin Luther King Day

By MICHAEL DANIELS

As the American Skiing Company's nationwide financial losses continue to mount, skier-visit numbers at Sunday River in Newry continue to drop.

ASC, which owns Sunday River and Sugarloaf resorts in Maine and five others elsewhere, recently released its second quarter earning report.

For the first six months of its fiscal year, ASC reported a loss of $63 million, compared to $37.6 million for the comparable period the previous year.

The company's fiscal year runs from Aug. 1 to July 31, so the second quarter includes the crucial Christmas vacation week and Martin Luther King Day.

In a filing with the federal Securities and Exchange Commission, ASC said its skier visits were down 16 percent in the East during the period, due to "extremely challenging weather conditions."

In Newry, visits to Sunday River were down only 2 percent for the period, but that is against a number from the previous year that was itself down.

During the entire 2002-2003 ski season, skier visits to Sunday River fell 4 percent — despite record skier-visit numbers nationally and in the Northeast.

This marks the third year in a row that Sunday River's skier-visit numbers for the first six months of the fiscal year have dropped.

They peaked at 212,456 in January 2001, then dropped to 204,437 the following year, and to 202,488 in 2003.

This season the figure fell

Reshuffle of SAD44 administrative staff under consideration

By ALISON ALOISIO

A proposal to reorganize SAD44 administration calls for the elimination of the Telstar assistant principal position and the resurrection of two other positions that were cut in the 1990s.

Superintendent David Murphy presented the plan at a School Board workshop Monday, in response to long-term educational planning guidelines set out by directors last fall.

If approved, the proposal would add approximately $45,000 to the next school budget.

The plan will help the district meet the new federal "No Child Left Behind" mandates for academic performance, as well as state requirements, Murphy said.

The proposal will be formally considered when the board begins budget deliberations.

New TMS principal

Under the plan, the combined athletic director/assistant principal position, currently held by Carroll Higgins, would be eliminated. Higgins will retire this spring.

Murphy recommends instead the creation of a half-time athletic director position, to be combined with an existing half-time teaching position. The assistant principal portion of Higgins' job would be cut, and the district would use the salary saved toward hiring a full-time middle school principal.

FOCUS ON BETHEL—The movie "The Twelve Dogs of Christmas" began shooting in the area this week. On Tuesday, actors and crew filmed at an old barn on Vernon Street. Here, director Kieth Merrill checks the camera angle for a shot through a passageway in the barn. More photos, page 12.

It's getting a little lonely out there

A lone ice shack, the remnant of what was recently a bustling winter village, catches the morning sun on Lake Christopher in Bryant Pond. Recent cold temperatures put ice out on temporary hold, but warm, early spring weather is due to reappear for the weekend. Open water fishing season begins on most ponds and lakes Thursday, April 1.

Town Meetings:

Andover voters reject reval, et (some) al.

By ALISON ALOISIO

For the second year in a row, voters at the Andover Town Meeting soundly defeated a proposal to do a revaluation on town property.

The article was one of several items turned down by the 55 voters attending Saturday's meeting.

The price tag for the revaluation would have been more than $50,000, with the funds to be raised spread over the next three years.

The last time a revaluation was done was 1991. Selectmen expressed concern town residents would soon be in danger of losing tax breaks from the state, which recommends revaluation every 10 years.

Resident Victor Peterson said he thought it was also unfair that property owners who have recently bought homes for prices much greater than the town's assessed value will be paying proportionally less in taxes than he does.

Wayne Delano, however, said selectmen should simply look at individual properties that seem "out of whack," and adjust the values accordingly.

Townpeople also voted down a proposal to pay insurance benefits to the treasurer and deputy town clerk. The positions are held by the same person, who works more than 20 hours a week.

Several years ago, voters approved a policy of paying

Greenwood to decide on recall ordinance

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Greenwood voters will decide Saturday if they want the power to remove elected town officials before their terms end.

Currently officials, once elected, serve until their terms are up. If voters decide before then that a mistake has been made, they have little recourse but to grin and bear it.

But an article appearing on the warrant for Saturday's annual Town Meeting could change that.

The article would establish an ordinance for recalling and removing elected officials. (Under Maine law school board members would be exempt.)

The recall article was proposed by Town Manager

Carol Whitman, in response, she said, to complaints from several residents about the behavior of Selectman Ivan Roberts.

Roberts was elected to the Board of Selectmen in 2003. His three-year term is not due to expire until 2006.

However, his confrontational, go-it-alone style on both the Board of Selectmen and the G&W Solid Waste Board has exasperated and angered several people who have worked with him.

While the recall article is clearly targeted at the situation created by the election of Roberts, its passage Saturday would not end his term of office.

Plow truck, reval face Woodstock voters

By ALISON ALOISIO

Woodstock voters go to Town Meeting Monday to consider a municipal budget which, if approved, could increase their tax rate an estimated .8 mills.

But approving one of the articles could ultimately drop the 2004 rate by more than a mil, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield.

The total proposed municipal appropriation is $877,988, compared to last year's $755,700.

If all budget items are approved, the mill rate is estimated to be 16.1, up from the current 15.3. The rate includes Woodstock's county share and the estimated town contribution to the SAD44 budget.

Article 38, however, proposes raising and appropriating $24,000 for the Assessor's Account, to fund a revaluation of town property.

If approved, the revaluation would be done this spring, in time to use the new figures in calculating this year's tax bills, Maxfield said. And it is possible the mill rate could go as low as 14 with the new values, he said.

New plow truck?

The big-ticket item to be voted upon this year is the purchase of a new, fully-equipped plow truck for $93,000. The funds would come from the Major Highway Equipment Reserve Account.

The truck would replace the

In Gilead: Privatize highway job?

By ALISON ALOISIO

Gilead residents will decide Saturday whether to eliminate the position of road commissioner, and instead contract out for services.

The article is among 44 up for a vote at the 7 p.m. annual Town Meeting.

Beverly Corriveau, the town's administrative assisstant, said two of the town's three selectmen believe road maintenance can be done more cheaply by contracting it out.

Maintenance includes plowing, sanding, culvert work, patching, cutting bushes and emergency road maintenance.

But there is some concern among officials, she said, about the promptness of service the town would get in emergency situations.

The position is currently held by Fred Corriveau, who was elected last year following the retirement of Ted Taylor.

ATTA BOY MANAGEMENT

To the Editor:
The town manager and selectmen's handling of Darren Tripp is a classic example of atta boy management.
What sort of management method is that one might ask?
In principle it works like this, no matter how high the stack of "atta boys" any employee may achieve for good work, one "ah sh... t" wipes them all out. Simple and effective.
Our town officials' inability or unwillingness to see the sum of Darren's good work over the years and his subsequent dismissal fits that bill neatly. There is an old adage that in effect says, "Even monkeys fall from trees." Maybe our town officials should have given that thought more weight in light of the service Darren Tripp has delivered.
But then again, politics here in Bethel has become pretty sophisticated.

MISSING THE MAIN ISSUE

To the Editor:
In regard to the Bethel Police Department, the town manager and Board of Selectmen, it seems to me the people involved are so caught up in details that they've lost sight of the most important issue. Several months ago the town manager suggested disbanding the Bethel Police Department. A vote was held and the majority of the people in town chose to keep the BPD. Although it wasn't stated, it is a safe assumption that they meant to include the one they had at that time.
Since then as a direct or indirect result of the town manager, the members of the BPD have been fired or resigned.
The town manager is supposed to resolve problems with the work force and keep things operating smoothly. Whether or not he was within his rights to fire the police chief isn't nearly as important as whether he could have taken a less extreme measure to censure the police chief. As a result of his actions several officers resigned and instead of coming to them as a manager to try to do as the voters ordered by their vote and keep the police force, he stated, "They were all serving a person, not the Bethel community, and we don't want officers like that."
It seems to me the Bethel community said they want a police force and because of actions by the town manager they do not have one. I submit, therefore, that it is Scott Cole who is not doing as the townspeople wanted and he should be asked to resign.
As a selectman myself, I can say the first job as a selectman is to carry out the directions of the voters. Therefore, the selectmen should do their duty and repair the damage done to their Police Department by Scott Cole by first removing him from his position and then by apologizing to the officers and asking them to come back. In my town I would present the entire problem to the voters in two questions. 1) Do you want the Police Chief reinstated? 2) Do you want us to look for a new town manager?

I'd be willing to bet that the selectmen could also work out a compromise with the ex-chief to avoid court.
It is obvious from the paper that this issue has divided the town. My advice to the selectmen is in order to do what is best for the town you should let them tell you what they want in a special Town Meeting.
Remember the beauty of small-town government is when you aren't sure what people want you can get them together and have them tell you. A good leader can tell when he/she needs help and is not afraid to ask for it.

NO NEED FOR NAME CALLING

To the Editor:
I was really bothered by Stormi Wing's letter in The Citizen last week. I understand that Darren Tripp's unsuccessful appeal has a lot of people upset and angry. But just because three selectmen disagreed with the letter-writer doesn't make them railroad "co-conspirators" or "in the pocket" of anyone. We are lucky to have decent people like Al Barth, Dutch Dresser, and Reggie Brown, as well as Jack Cross, Don Bennett, and dozens of others who are willing to donate their time and talents to the smooth running of this town. If you don't agree with them, don't vote for them — but also don't call them names. This power-struggle over the police is likely to get worse before it gets better.
In the meantime, if we don't want to bring "ridicule and disgrace" onto the town, we would all do well to turn our other cheeks and keep the discussion polite.

HE KNOWS EXACTLY WRONG

To the Editor:
I find it extremely frightening whenever I see the TV ad showing President Bush with the First Lady and he says: "I know exactly where I want to lead this country." Because he's going in the wrong direction.

PETITION IS CIRCULATING

To the Editor:
In response to the numerous phone calls, e-mails, and cards we have received we have decided to begin the petition process to place the issue of Darren's termination of employment in the town of Bethel to the voters. The first step was to request of the Board of Selectmen to voluntarily place the issue before the townspeople for a vote. For whatever the reason, they refused to place this important decision to the voters of this community. Geoff Hole, the town's attorney, stated in writing that he does not "believe" that this process is legal and feels that any vote by the voters would not be binding. Haley and I feel that the laws do support our claim to circulate a petition and that the voice of the voters does indeed supersede the decision of the town manager and the five selectmen.
We are sure whatever we do will be questioned, and again the town manager and the selectmen will then force us to seek legal council, since they have shown in the past that they will not hesitate to spend taxpayers' money to force litigation on issues that should be handled within the town.
We do not know if we will be successful. We have interpreted the laws and we feel that we must follow through with all avenues available to us, so as to once again serve the town as the police chief. As we have said, the selectmen, the town manager, and the town attorney have said that what we are doing is non-binding and will not be approved. Regardless of their statement, we will continue since we have more faith in the voters of this town than the officials entrusted to govern it. We have already begun to circulate the petition. Anyone interested in signing or assisting us with this process can call us at 824-2112.

TIME TO SAY 'ENOUGH'

To the Editor:
To the taxpayers of the town of Greenwood. If the Greenwood town budget is passed as proposed, many resident taxpayers who currently have a hard time with their tax bills will face the risk of liens being placed on their property, others will be unprepared for the escalated tax bill they will receive.
It is time for the taxpayers to say enough is enough. Go to the Town Meeting and ask if the passage of this article really is necessary. If it isn't, I encourage people to vote it down.

UNDERGROUND TANKS WILL HELP FIGHT FIRES

To the Editor:
Underground water supply tanks (either concrete or fiberglass) are not a new idea and are designed to be trouble-free.
The water tank in West Bethel has been in use for numerous years and has not been replaced. This water supply is owned by the Water District, which has given use or is available to the Bethel Fire Department for emergencies, etc.
The 30,000-gallon water supply tank was mentioned for a 30-unit subdivision, out of the Water District service area; a smaller subdivision would require less storage. This tank was based on insurance service organization (ISO) water flow outside of a hydrant area, 250 gallons per minute for two hours.
The Fire Department members (past and present) are very grateful to the taxpayers of Bethel for the equipment we now have and the new building to store them in.
As members of the town Budget Committee and town Building Safety Committee are aware, the equipment purchased had to fit the building at the previous station. There are requirements for both of these emergency areas to be met.
Water is a very important part of putting out a fire. If you do not have water available all the manpower and emergency vehicles on site would not be any asset.

APPALLED AT ROUTE 2 CONDITIONS

To the Editor:
I am truly appalled as to the road conditions on US Route 2 from the New Hampshire state line to Bethel. On the night of March 3, I was traveling from Gorham, N.H. to Bethel where we were to celebrate my son's 16th birthday at the Big Adventure. My other son, his girlfriend and a friend were traveling in their vehicle behind me. While going through Gilead, I hit a pothole, which jarred everyone in my vehicle. Due to it being nighttime and no streetlights, I never saw this pothole. Everything was fine and we continued to Bethel. Upon arriving, I noticed that my son and his girlfriend were not behind me. We waited for a while, thinking that they must have stopped at the store. After about 20 minutes I had a feeling that something was wrong and I backtracked to Gilead where I found them parked on the side of the road. They also had hit this pothole but were not as lucky as I. The impact they sustained caused the rim of the front passenger's tire to bend, which caused a flat. The dashboard raised approximately one inch due to the fact that the impact caused it to come out of the clips, which holds it in place. At that time we went to a home and asked if we could park the car in their driveway overnight until a wrecker could come and get it the next day. They were very kind and said yes. The four of us then continued on to the birthday.
Upon returning home at approximately 10:10 p.m. the state of Maine road crew (one person) was out patching up the pothole. I stopped and asked whom I contact because of the damage done to the other vehicle. He told me to contact the division, which I did the next day. I spoke to a lady at the Department of Transportation Legal Division. I explained to her what had taken place. I was appalled at the lady's "Oh, well" attitude. She informed me and also faxed to me a copy of Title 14, Chapter 741, Tort Claims section 4 which is Immune by Maine Tort Claims Act Ref. Pothole damage. This section states a governmental entity is not liable for any defect, lack of repair, or lack of sufficient railing on any highway and so on. This lady stated to me to report the pothole and they will send someone to fix it. Well, in my eyes it's too late. The damage is done. What does this department do, sit around and wait for a motorist to call because damage has been done to their vehicle due to neglect in road repairs. I know that potholes do not just happen. Why isn't the road crew out during the day fixing this? Was this employee that I came across at 10:10 p.m. paid overtime to correct something that should have been repaired during the day? I cannot believe the Maine residents' taxes and the money paid at tollbooths do not go to road repair. This has caused a large repair bill that was unnecessary and could have been prevented if the Department of Transportation was on the ball.
US Route 2 is a major highway where motorists enter the State of Maine. The sign should read "Welcome to Maine, Drive at your own Risk." My sympathy to Maine residents who have to travel on this poorly maintained road daily. I know I will be thinking twice before going to Maine again.

SHOULD LEAVE THE RIBBONS UP

To the Editor:
I am a local Boy Scout from Bethel, who participated in placing the yellow ribbons along Main Street. A little while ago, Scott Cole's secretary called our scoutmaster wondering when the ribbons were coming down. I think it is unfit to take the ribbons down just as brave soldiers, such as SSG Ernest Aguilar with the 133rd, have been deployed to Iraq. I believe that the ribbons should stay up until all the soldiers come back or at least the ones from the 133rd of Maine.
I don't know why Town Manager Scott Cole would want to take the ribbons down. I personally think that the ribbons remind Bethel that there are still loved ones in Iraq.

MOTHER NATURE'S WALKABOUT

To the Editor:
I'm back! Thought I'd check in with you and tell you about what I've observed on my trip around the Northern Hemisphere. It's a big territory I can tell you.
Let's start in the Northwest. I'd like to say that I didn't see any bear kill on the road. They haven't overtaken the populace yet. The natives seem to think it will be a while before they'll have to barricade their doors. In the meantime, the fish and game departments are provided with work. They transfer unruly bear to less inhabited areas. The only unhappy creatures I found were the hunters.
Next, I wandered down to Hollywood to check out all the ruckus being caused by one lone mammary gland. I concluded that Mrs. J should be very proud of her accomplishments because at last one of her children was being nominated for the Congressional Medal of Honor. Howard Stern has been gagged and the media's voracious appetite for filthy language has been somewhat curbed. Mr. B should pin that medal on Mrs. J's daughter's very deserving, dare I say, chest? If that's what it took to get people's attention that's what it took. Be grateful.
Next, I checked out the South and found lots of dead 'possums in the road but all was calm in Appalachia. When passing through Pa. and N.Y., I stepped over lots of deer kill in the road. I'll have to do something about that.
Finally, I reached the Northeast and made my way to little, old Bethel, Maine and dang if I didn't find out why it was so quiet in Appalachia and most of the West, except for Mrs. J's household. The Urp's and McCole's were in Bethel. Sides have been taken. Emotions are high. People are running amuck. Lines are forming to right the wrongs and there's an opinion on every lip. It will take awhile before clear, logical, less heated thinking will once again reign. In the meantime, the bear are left to their own devices, awakening to face another season and the challenges that go with it. Wonder what they'll find when leaving hibernation — Urp's or McCole's or neither? Time will tell. I'll check in again sometime when I'm passing through. Maybe I should take some of the beleaguered selectmen on a road trip with me. I'd see that they got a good rest.

MV athletic director indicted

RUMFORD — The longtime athletic director of Mountain Valley High School has been indicted by an Oxford County grand jury for allegedly embezzling more than $86,000 between 2000 and 2003. Timothy McInnis, 52, of Rumford was issued a summons to appear in Superior Court on April 8 to answer a charge of felony theft. If convicted, he could face up to 10 years in prison. After school officials reportedly found discrepancies in McInnis' athletic department account, he was placed on administrative leave in mid-January. He resigned Feb. 2. McInnis was employed for more than 30 years by SAD43 and served as the district's athletic director for the last 17 years at Mountain Valley High School. Rumford Detective Lt. Wayne Gallant said Friday he first learned of suspected financial improprieties by McInnis on Jan. 13 when SAD43 Supt. James Hodgkin and high school Principal Bruce Lindberg came to the police station. "They reported there had been a theft of several thousands of dollars from the Athletic Department's account," Gallant said. A SAD43 official in Hodgkin's office said the district had no comment on the matter. According to the indictment, Gallant's investigation revealed that from Jan. 1, 2000, to Dec. 31, 2003, McInnis took more than $86,000 cash from the district. Gallant said he initially was checking McInnis' financial records as far as six months, but new information revealed the theft had apparently been going on much longer. "There may have been more money taken, but what we've been able to track is what we felt comfortable with in presenting the case to the grand jury," Gallant said. Evidence included more than 100 checks ranging from $50 to $1,000. "There were a lot of checks that were made to look like legitimate athletic department payouts, but, in fact, the checks were all made out to and cashed by Tim McInnis," Gallant said. "We have our suspicions about where and how the money was used, but it appears that all the money was taken by Mr. McInnis for personal use," the detective added.

Maple Sunday this weekend

BETHEL — The annual Maine Maple Sunday will take place this weekend (March 28). Sugar makers around the state open the doors of their sugarhouses to the public. Most sugarhouses offer free tasting and a demonstration of how syrup is produced. Many offer other treats and activities, including syrup on pancakes or ice cream, sugarbush tours, sleigh or wagon rides. In the Bethel area, participating sugar makers include Running Brook Farm on the Flat Road in West Bethel (1 to 4 p.m.) and Leon and Sandy Dunn on the Branch Road in Newry (10 a.m. to 2 p.m.).

Hiker dies of hypothermia

FRANCONIA, N.H. — A day hike on Mt. Lafayette turned deadly for a Massachusetts couple when the wife died of hypothermia. Brenda and Russell Cox of Andover, Mass., were caught in a snowstorm and subzero temperatures Sunday. They made a shelter out of snow that night, then kept walking on Monday. They spent that night in a rocky cave. On Tuesday, a National Guard helicopter found them near the summit around 10 a.m. Brenda Cox was unconscious, and was pronounced dead after being airlifted to Littleton Regional Hospital. Russell Cox also suffered hypothermia, but was able to walk after the ordeal. Both were experienced hikers. A foot of snow fell in the mountains Sunday night, and the wind chill was 60 below zero. One of the couple's sons called police Sunday night after they didn't return.

Four charged in drug raid

RUMFORD — Four Rumford residents were arrested recently on charges connected with the illegal use of prescription narcotics. David Paquette, 26, was charged with illegal trafficking of a schedule W drug; Deborah K Gates, 47, was charged with trafficking of a scheduled drug (Class B); Ronald Harding, 40, was charged with possession of a schedule Z drug (Class E); and Patricia Paquette, 50, was charged with two counts of trafficking in a schedule B drug. Police said the arrests came as part of an undercover drug operation that was initiated after another Rumford resident died of a prescription drug overdose.

Employees told of layoffs

RUMFORD — MeadWestvaco officials said last week they have started notifying some salaried employees that they will lose their jobs in the coming weeks and months. The total number expected to be laid off is less than 30. The layoffs are among 1,000 expected to be made throughout the corporation. Last fall almost 50 foresters were laid off after the company sold most of its forestland in Maine.

County gets preservation grant

SOUTH PARIS — The Maine Historical Records Advisory Board has approved a request for a grant and awarded Oxford County $950 from funds provided by the National Historical Publications and Records Commission, according to Tom Winsor, Oxford County Register of Probate, who made the grant request. The Oxford County Register of Probate is responsible for the safe keeping of all the files of the Probate Court. The court maintains all original documents filed with the court from 1805 to today. "This money will allow us to hire an expert in records preservation. We need to evaluate the condition of these historical documents and establish a long-term plan to insure that these records are maintained for future generations. Our records must be kept in accordance with accepted archival standards. These records span 200 years of history and tell the story of Oxford County and its families," said Winsor. "They support community efforts to protect the stories of our birth, property rights, government, and how we lived our lives," noted Jim Henderson, director of the Maine State Archives. "People need to document their birth or naturalization to obtain a passport or to get medical care; others research their property boundaries; some seek long-lost relatives or to understand the history of the old saw mill down the road. Without these precious records, most questions like this would remain unanswered." The Historical Collections Grant Program has been a joint project of the Maine State Museum and the Maine State Archives. Recent state budget cuts have ended grants for museum objects and reduced amounts available for historical records. For information about the grant and the Oxford County Probate Court, contact Tom J. Winsor, Register of Probate, at 743-6671.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Thursday, March 18

At 8:10 p.m. police responded to Telstar for a report that items had been stolen out of a vehicle.

Friday, March 19

At 2:45 p.m. police assisted a county deputy with a welfare check.

At 4:58 p.m. police received a report of a car and a truck spinning on the Willard Road. The vehicles had left the scene and had gone to a residence. The officer checked the roads and found a large number of spin marks. He then went to the residence and spoke with two subjects, who admitted they had done it. They were warned further complaints would result in a summons.

At 8:29 p.m. police received a call from a restaurant that a customer was refusing to pay for his meal. The officer responded, and told the subject that he had to pay because he had eaten the meal. The subject said it was not what he had ordered, and didn't think he should have to pay. The officer told him if he did not, he could be charged with theft. The subject then paid and left.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summon in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Reshuffle

Currently, Shawn Lambert is principal of both Telstar high and middle schools. But, said Murphy, "TMS needs someone who can focus 100 percent of their efforts right there."

"The middle school has often been the orphan child of whatever was happening at that complex, he said."

For much of the 1990s, TMS had its own principal, but in 1999 the job was combined with the high school position.

Since then, the district has created two new "dean of students" support positions, one in the high school and a half-time position in the middle school.

Deans Charlie Raymond and Tom Riley, respectively, are responsible for both discipline and maintaining clear communications within the school and between school and home to support students, Murphy said.

They are paid a stipend in addition to a regular teaching salary.

Last year, another new administrative position, a curriculum coordinator, was added.

In hiring a half-time athletic director, Murphy said he would seek someone who, in addition to scheduling, would be able to regularly attend competitions in all the sports Telstar offers.

"We need an administrative presence," he said. And, an athletic director "can do so much for school spirit," the superintendent said.

CPS, AES changes

At the elementary school level, Richard Colpitts is the current supervising principal for the Crescent Park and Andover schools, while Jolene Littlehale is a teaching principal at Woodstock. AES also has a designated "lead teacher."

The plan calls for replacing the lead teacher at the Andover Elementary School with a teaching principal. Such a position would require the holder to have a principal certification.

That would free up Colpitts to focus more on the Crescent Park Elementary School, Murphy said.

The new plan, he said, would give administrators "a reasonable number of kids to be responsible for."

The administrators would also be more visible in the schools and in better touch with students and staff, he said.

When compared to the number of administrators with similar responsibilities employed in the early 1990s, the combination of recent and proposed changes would have the net effect of adding roughly one-half position, Murphy said.

Support service changes

In the area of support administration, the current joint position of supervisor of transportation/maintenance would be split into two separate full-time positions.

Such a change would also be a return to the format used in the 1990s.

Murphy said that Burnie Rice, who currently holds the joint position, often finds himself "putting out fires" instead of managing efficiently.

"If they're plowing snow, he can't pay attention to transportation," said Murphy.

The board's Finance Committee will begin preliminary review of the school budget March 30.

CARTER RUNNING FOR HOUSE DISTRICT 91
Timothy A. Carter is the Democratic candidate for state representative for House District 91. Carter is a sixth generation Bethel resident. He has worked as an advocate for more than 30 years in agriculture on the local, state and federal levels. He was a member of the Oxford County Farm Bureau, county president (1987-1991), state director for same (1984-1986), and a member of the Governor's Agriculture Advisory Council (1982-1988). One of Carter's most significant positions was northeast area director for the US Department of Agriculture from 1994-2001. The Department of Agriculture oversees several programs for the rural areas including forestry, farming, low-cost housing and environmental protection. Carter served as an officer in the United States Army. "Being an officer was one of the best and worst experiences in my life. It taught me about management, discipline, leadership and teamwork. Growing up as a farm boy I was used to having freedom and doing as I pleased. In the Army I was told where to go and when. That was quite an adjustment but a great trade off." A proponent of accessible healthcare and small business, Carter said he understands the necessity of affordable healthcare. "Small businesses pay outrageous premiums. If Dirigo Health Plan does what it's supposed to do, it will help numerous people and small businesses alike. By being a member of the plan, small businesses would be able to cover their employees' healthcare needs and save money. The savings should be available to then invest in their businesses, maybe even to hire more employees." Carter said he is also committed to investing in education and creating fair tax solutions. District 91 includes Dallas, part of East Central Franklin, Eustis, Kingfield, North Franklin, Rangeley, Bethel, Gilead, Hanover, Lincoln, Magalloway, Milton, Newry, North Oxford, South Oxford, Stoneham, Upton and Woodstock.

Skiers

below 200,000, to 198,550. That is down 6.5 percent from the 2001 number.

During the same three-year period skier visits at Sugarloaf/USA fell from 133,142 to 118,081, a decline of more than 11 percent.

Weather credited, blamed
Sunday River spokesperson Susan Duplessis said the decline in skier visits was a result of weather conditions during the past three seasons. She described the 2001-2002 season, as "an extraordinary year with abundant snowfall (250 inches) that began in mid-November."

"There was no January thaw-freeze, no rain, and reasonable temperatures that combined to make it one of the more successful seasons in our recent history, including Q2."

But in the following seasons, she said, "we've had challenging weather patterns," including a mix of unseasonably warm weather at critical snowmaking times, occasional bouts of heavy rain, and, most recently, bitter cold that kept all but the hardest skiers from the slopes.

"If you look at our business as it corresponds to weather, it's really no secret that more people flock to the slopes during favorable weather," Duplessis said.

This season the weather conditions did improve in time for February vacation, she said, "and people responded." Duplessis also pointed to an adjustment in Sunday River's marketing strategy, notably offering bargain-priced season tickets.

"This season's lower paid days number very likely reflects the increase in season pass holders, which we fully expected when we introduced these new products in the market," she said.

Milot resigning

Townpeople will vote for two selectmen's positions Saturday. Incumbent Joe Taylor's seat is up for a vote, and he is expected to run, Corriveau said. She has not heard of anyone else running.

But, she said, several people are interested in the seat that will be vacated by Jay Milot, who was elected last year to a three-year term.

He is resigning because of a busy schedule, said Corriveau, and the person elected will finish the remaining two years.

If all the money articles are approved, the municipal budget should be similar to last year's, Corriveau said.

The proposed budget figures have not yet been added up.

School costs will remain the same as last year, with $175,873 proposed as the local share of the foundation allocation, and $43,000 in additional local funds.

Selectmen are requesting $3,000 in the cemetery account for maintenance and repair, because many stones are in poor condition and need work, Corriveau said.

Voters will also be asked for $1,550 to fund 12 street signs and two "Welcome to Gilead" signs on Route 2.

Budgeted amounts in several town accounts will decrease, said Corriveau.

Greenwood

The article only establishes the process and legal basis for removal of officials.

If residents then decide they wish to bring Roberts' career on the board to an early end, a petition and second Town Meeting vote would be required.

The recall article is currently number 45 on this year's 47-article warrant, but Whitman said she expects a motion to be made from the floor to take the article up earlier in the meeting.

Renewed recycling effort

Voters will be asked to take up two articles proposed by the G&W Solid Waste Committee.

The first is a non-binding statement committing the town "to a renewed effort in public and in our homes to increase our rate of recycling."

A second would require a demolition permit for any structure larger than 12-by-12 feet.

Without a permit, waste from such projects would not be accepted at the G&W Transfer Station. (The transfer station is operated jointly by Greenwood and Woodstock, and both articles are also on the warrant for Woodstock's Town Meeting on Monday evening.

Budget, taxes likely up

If voters approve the financial articles on Saturday's warrant as proposed, the town's municipal budget (not including school and county taxes) would increase to $1,102,034 — up $271,982 from the past year's budget of $830,052.

Approximately $120,000 of that increase, however, would not be raised from taxation, but would come from a $125,000 municipal bond loan, to pay for repairs to the Alder River dam in Locke Mills.

That borrowing must also be approved by voters Saturday. Whitman estimates the loan's annual cost to taxpayers would be approximately $5,000.

Another loan, for $59,763, would go toward the $84,543 cost of a new truck for the Highway Department.

The amount of money to be raised from taxation to support the new budget would be $1,114,498, up $90,729 from the current figure of $1,023,769.

That would translate to an increase of approximately 7 percent in the town's property tax rate, Whitman said, but new valuation that came on the books this year could reduce that increase by about half, she said.

A 4 percent increase would raise the current mill rate of 16.75 to 17.42.

Elections

Voters will pick a selectman and three school board members Saturday.

Incumbent Selectman Fred Henderson, currently chairman of that board, is seeking another three-year term.

No one is yet contesting the seat, Whitman said, but nominations could be made from the floor of the meeting.

Three seats are open on the SAD44 Board of Directors. Incumbents Richard Melville and Walter Brough are seeking reelection to terms of, respectively, three and two years.

There has also been interest expressed in the final, one-year term, Whitman said.

This year's annual Town Meeting will be held in the town hall and will begin at 10 a.m.

Andover

for benefits for town employees who work at least 20 hours a week.

But on Saturday, some residents objected because neither position in itself totaled 20 hours.

Others thought the whole policy should be re-examined, in light of the increasing costs of insurance. Delano suggested selectmen consider a new plan to pay a percentage of the benefits based on the number of hours worked.

Voters also defeated a proposal to close the Town Hall during the three coldest months of the year, to save on heating costs. They decided such a move was not worthwhile because of the cost of putting antifreeze in the pipes and other costs associated with closing the building down.

They did approved establishing a Town Hall Committee to study future improvements to the old building. Voters also approved a plan to restore the 48 windows in the hall and add new storm and screen windows, at an estimated cost of $18,000.

Residents balked at spending $5,000 to repair drive-in gates at the town cemetery after Marshall Meisner pointed out the gates are never closed anyway.

But they approved $6,200 for a continuing project to repair the iron fencing at the cemetery.

Several social service organizations had their requests for contributions turned down because not enough information was provided about the groups, or because no one was at the meeting to represent them.

In recent years, many towns have seen an increasing number of organizations asking for funds.

Woodstock

current 1988 model.

Another article asks for an additional $6,000 from the same account to purchase a new dump body for the town's 1994 L8000 Ford truck.

Townpeople will also decide whether to contribute $15,000 toward the restoration of the Alder River Dam in Greenwood.

The dam holds back the waters of two ponds (North and South) located in Woodstock. Greenwood plans to restore the dam, and has asked Woodstock to help with the cost. The Solid Waste Account would increase by $16,000 this year, to $111,000, if voters approve. Increases in tonnage, tipping fees and labor have all contributed to the higher budgeted amount, according to Maxfield.

In a related article, residents will be asked to endorse a nonbinding resolution to commit the town to "a renewed effort, in public and in our homes, to increase our rate of recycling."

Increased recycling will help to limit increases in solid waste disposal, selectmen said.

Also up for a vote is a proposal to require a demolition permit for any structure larger than 12 by 12 feet. The permits would allow the town to track commercial projects, for which contractors must rent their own separate dumpster, Maxfield said.

Amendments to the subdivision and shoreland zoning ordinances will also be considered.

Other articles include one to discontinue an unimproved town road on a conditional basis; and one to convey a 3-acre parcel of town land along the Billings Hill Road to an abutting property owner, to clear up a property line.

Elections

Townpeople are expected to elect a new selectman this year to replace Percy Monk, who said he is not running again for his expiring seat.

Maxfield said he did not know of any candidates for the position.

On the SAD44 School Board, Ron Deegan's term is expiring, and he is expected to run again.

Two Whitman Memorial Library trustee seats are up for a vote. One is currently held by Marta Clements, the other by Valerie Billings.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. at the Woodstock Elementary School.

Incumbent SAD44 director, selectman defeated

Andover voters Tuesday voted an incumbent school director and selectman out of office.

Kelly Scotti, a longtime SAD44 School Board member and chair of the board for many years, was ousted by Keith Farrington, 38-17. Paula Smith received four votes. All the candidates were write-ins.

On the Board of Selectmen, incumbent Laura Hutchins was defeated by Gerry Savitch, 56-24.

Elections for municipal positions take the form of a secret ballot held the Tuesday after the annual Town Meeting.

The Way I See It by Sharon Bouchard Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department My two eight-year old grandsons are turning into real boys. I don't make this observation because everything they do is rough and tumble in true boyish fashion. That is the more obvious side of being boys, but Reese and Tristan are starting to display the less obvious and harder side of being boys. Let me explain. These two cousins are only three weeks apart in age and have been as close as brothers since infancy. They have hugged each other for comfort, to congratulate little victories like learning to ride a bike and as acts of affection. The other day they were both together and I had to pick Tristan up to take him with me. When they said their goodbyes they reached instinctively to hug each other. Something stopped them in mid-act. Nothing was said by either one, but as if some silent communication took place between them instead of an embrace there was awkward punching ending with a hard slapped high-five. Both boys immediately said the slap didn't hurt, but I couldn't help but notice that Tristan was shaking his hand as we walked to the car and I'm pretty sure that Reese was doing the same thing. What happened to two little boys that have shared everything from peeing in opposite ends of a garden hose to potty training that they no longer feel that they can show affection toward each other? I'm sure that Reese and Tristan are no different than other boys their age. I think there must be a testosterone set point that determines that eight-years old is toughness time. And unfortunately this will stay with them right into adulthood. Recently my oldest grandson came home on military leave after spending a year in Iraq. The whole family went to the airport to welcome him home. After he got off the plane all the females, gave him long hugs and lots of kisses and more long hugs. For the men, however, they pretended to cough or clear their throats and then either gave Corey slaps on the back or punches in his arms. It looked more like they were getting ready to beat him up rather than welcome a soldier back home. I certainly don't blame the men for their awkward behavior because I know that it is the testosterone flowing through their bodies that dictates their actions. It's as if there is a warning signal that goes off to say "DO NOT SHOW YOUR SENSITIVE SIDE." They don't even want to talk about their softer side for that matter. Here's an example of what I mean. Corey had given his grandfather the pin he earned for completing Air Assault School. On the way home from the airport I happened to mention to Henry that I thought it was a very thoughtful and touching gesture for Corey to do that and I had noticed that Henry had tears in his eyes. Henry dismissed the incident very quickly reminding me that he does have allergies after all and that Corey was just showing off. I said nothing else on the subject, but I did notice that Henry clutched the pin all the way home and considering that he only has one useable hand I thought that spoke volumes. This is my big tough guy who says he doesn't like to watch movies that are love stories or tear jerkers because they're just too sappy. If the truth were known I believe the reason he doesn't like to watch such movies is because he's afraid some tears just might be jerked from his eyes. There is a television commercial for Brawny paper towels that just cracks me up every time I see it. The regular roll of Brawny with the tough lumberjack on the wrapper is in one chair and a new roll with a more tender looking guy on the wrapper is in another chair and they are watching a soap opera. The tender guy, now known as the softer side of Brawny is choking up and the tough guy is picking on him, but he sounds like he's on the verge of choking up too. Henry doesn't find this commercial nearly as amusing as I do. If any of you macho guys who identify with the tougher side of Brawny are reading this, here's a news flash - it's the softer side of the male mystique that women like. Men may think that showing the little lady how strong both physically and emotionally they are is a turn-on, but a tear on their ruddy cheek will melt our hearts quicker than anything. I know my grandsons didn't make a conscious decision to no longer hug each other and start showing their tougher sides. I understand their actions are controlled by the maleness of their existence and I guess that's okay. But the way I see it if the day comes when they are too big and macho to hug me it will be the day I show them just how tough a grandmother can be. Author's Note: Last week's column was a Vintage The Way I See It and the actual incident took place quite some time ago. I do however, want to thank readers for their calls of concern, they were very much appreciated.

Andover

by Joan Stinson-Carney
My condolences to the family and friends of former Andover resident Alex Legault. Alex passed away recently in Florida from a heart attack. My special sympathy to his widow, Cathy.

My condolences to the family and friends of Andover resident Edna Smith. Edna passed away last week. She was a longtime resident of our community and will be greatly missed.

Town Meeting is over with for another year. I want to thank the 66 voters of our community who attended. I find it amazing that only 10 percent of the registered voters of our town made the effort to attend. If you didn't attend, and have any complaints as to where your tax dollars are going to be spent, I don't want to hear about it.

Happy Birthday to Ryan Theriault who turned three years old on the 22nd. He celebrated his birthday on Sunday with his grandparents Elaine and Hank Morton, his mother Betsey, his older brother Alan and other guests.

There is a committee being formed to help upgrade and preserve the Andover Town Hall. Volunteers are needed. If you have an interest in this good work, please call Hope Peterson at work at 392-3302, or at home at 392-1088.

I want to welcome Nettie Fitzpatrick home from Florida, where she spent the winter. It was nice to see her at Town Meeting.

READY TO HAVE HIS SAY
Isaiah Thibodeau, 2, won't be eligible to vote until 2020, but he started studying democracy early by attending Saturday's Town Meeting in Andover with his grandparents, Brad and Elissa. Armed with a voting card and plenty of enthusiasm, he awaited the start of the afternoon session. But by late in the meeting, he had nodded off. Grandfather Brad moderated the meeting.

reacted with anger and passion. When He finally knew beyond a shadow of a doubt that, in order to fulfill the scriptures and be a sacrifice for sin for all people, to be the Messiah, He had to become a blood sacrifice and die, He said "Not my will but thine" and meekly, as befitting the "Lamb" of God went as quietly as little lambs do when they are slaughtered.

He could have, as one song said, called ten thousand angels and have been set free. He chose instead to do His Father's will. Any raging He might have done he would have done in His prayers to the Father in the Garden of Gethsemane, if, in fact, He did any at all.

The other thing Richard mentioned was that folks would probably be campaigning to "shut him up." In Acts 5:34 the men of the Sanhedrin were trying to silence Peter and the other followers of Jesus to keep them from talking about Him.

A Pharisee called Gamaliel said to let them keep on talking because if Jesus was not from God His followers would soon fall away and if He was from God nobody would be able to stop His followers from proclaiming the Word. They were trying to "shut Him up" even then and it hasn't stopped.

Everyone has a Gethsemane in his or her life when you have to decide what you will do with Jesus. You can decide if you think He was who he said He was to praise Him as Lord.

Or you can decide He wasn't and praise Him anyway since the Bible says in Psalm 76:10 "surely the wrath of man shall praise Him." One has only to look at the message and ignore the messenger.

Christians are not perfect — just forgiven. God alone is our judge, but we have an advocate in Jesus who is interceding for us because He paid the price for us. That was what "The Passion" was all about and still is. What Christ did for us was for yesterday, for today and forever.

It has been a rather uneventful week around here. I hope people are gearing up for Town Meeting. I would like to see a good turnout. I have,

Church of Andover is going to be having a pizza dinner and board game night on Tuesday, March 30 starting at 5 p.m. Anyone who wishes to attend should call Pastor Jane Rich at 392-3761 so that they can know how much pizza to order. No charge, just come and have a good time.

Now I want to tell you something about my sister Donna's and my trip to Michigan. We spent most of our traveling time in Ontario, and Ontario for the most part has great rest stops. The first time we stopped there was a Wendy's there and we decided that we would get one of their baked stuffed potatoes. Without thinking I paid with an American twenty-dollar bill, I got back nineteen dollars and change in Canadian money. We figured out that it cost us 13 cents each for those potatoes, and they were good, too.

On our way home we saw hundreds and hundreds of Canada geese coming back for the summer. It was really wonderful to watch, sort of made us feel that spring might really be coming. See ya.

I always like it when one of the other correspondents gives me a topic to write about because often I can't come up with one on my own. This week it is Richard Grover and his comments on "The Passion." He writes that he doesn't see the Jesus who "chased the moneychangers from the Tabernacle" and there was a good reason for that.

If there was one thing that Jesus knew probably backwards and forwards it was the Scriptures. When He was just a young boy his parents could not find Him when they wanted to go home from Jerusalem and he was found talking with the teachers in the temple about the Scriptures (Luke 2: 41-48). He probably took His turn reading from them in the synagogue, as was the custom in His day.

There are two places in the Old Testament which describe the Crucifixion that was to come, one from David in Psalm 22 which begins with "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" and some scholars think that was what Jesus was reminding the crowd of when He cried out those words, rather than thinking He had been forsaken by His Father, since he had never doubted before, and the other in Isaiah, Chapter 53.

Whether or not, these men knew they were prophesying, especially David, who seems to be describing what he felt about his situation at the time, I do not know; but Isaiah, in verse 7 of Chapter 53, mentioned "he was led like a lamb to the slaughter."

In John 1:35 and Rev. 5 vs. 6 and 11, Jesus is referred to as the "Lamb" of God. When Jesus prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane, He was desperately hoping that He might be spared the horrors of what Scriptures said was to come. He was searching for the perfect will of God.

When he was throwing out the moneychangers he knew it was the will of the Father for Him to do so and He of course, an ulterior motive. The more people show up the more the Fire Department Auxiliary may have show up for dinner.

We have been fortunate not to have a lot of fires draining our disaster fund, but the more we can add to it the more we will have to work with if, God forbid, we ever do have to use it.

There will be a benefit supper coming up April 3 at the Legion Hall for Lorene's daughter and son-in-law, Calla and Jeff Tyler, who lost most of their belongings and home in a fire Jan. 29. You might want to keep that in mind, also.

I am glad we didn't get any more snow than we got. We may need the water this summer but I would prefer to see it rain later on and get it that way. We will be having ducks and birds show up next month and I would like to see it reasonably warm for them to say nothing about having it warmer for my dogs.

The only thing I like about the snow is that it keeps Princess a little easier to control when she is outside and the cats don't fuss as much about being kept in. And at least if they do get out it is easier to get them back in. With extra people coming in and out they manage to get out more often now, but they seem to stay around better now they are a bit older and I had better shut up before they make a liar out of me.

I do sort of miss the lights at Mt. Abram but I got a nice show of fireworks the other night. Trouble is they don't last very long, but if they did we would get tired of them and this way it is a nice treat.

Justin Thacker celebrated his birthday last Sunday and the church presented him with a bicycle he wanted. It was a surprise to him and I guess his face showed it. I didn't get to stay for the presentation and the lunch because after church Ralph, Lorene and I went to her mother.

Laura Hutchins's home for a March birthday celebration dinner. I know Calla has a March birthday and Ralph does and I think one of Lorene's aunts and maybe others. I know that the three of us were there and Calla and Jeff and Mandy, also Lorene's brother, Greg Adams, and his wife, and Russell Yates, and others whose names escape me, plus Laura, of course.

We had a very nice dinner and birthday cake and ice cream.

The first chipmunk appeared under the birdfeeder on Friday, March 19. Isn't that the day that the swallows come back to Capistrano? Obviously the little guy had a "brain blip" thinking that winter was over. He soon departed to his underground "digs" and hasn't been seen since.

Although most of the snowmobile trails have deteriorated there are still a few that can be used. Unless we have a major snowstorm the end of another snowmobile season is here.

Sue and Harold Hibbard flew to Spain last week to attend a family wedding.

Bill and Ellen Casey are babysitting for Paul and Jennifer while they attend conferences out of state. Their dog, Maggie Magalloway, has taken up residence with us. She is learning that she cannot catch a squirrel and that even thinking about chasing the deer will be rewarded with a major thumping.

Sue Nelson spent a few days in Vermont, babysitting granddaughter Mackenzie.

Apples for the deer were running on low, so I made a speed run to Cooper Farm and loaded up. I was very surprised to see so little snow below Grafton Notch. We still have 30 inches in the field. On returning I found that the "Apple Santa Claus," Gene Wixom, had visited and left a few bushels for the deer. We have to quarter them because the nasty big bucks would devour them in no time flat. The fella's sure enjoy the apples, drooling and chomping all the while they are eating. There are twin little bucks that haven't learned fear yet. They come within a couple of feet of the bucket.

Spring arrived Saturday morning, but it may as well be Christmas out there with the cold, windy weather.

Liz Stanczyk's daffodils emerged around the foundation of the house. A heavy hay mulch has been applied to keep the tender greens from freezing.

Evelyn and Jim Kenney have returned from a snowmobile vacation in Haynesville. There wasn't enough snow to make a snowball. The snow is always whiter in the other fella's yard.

Construction of L. L. Cote's mini-mall in Errol is underway. It should be ready by late spring or early summer.

Tom Turkey paid us a visit on Sunday. He usually is at Walt Stanczyk's or Al Gagnon's. He was on the roof of Al's sheep barn a few weeks ago.

Our Canada jays have deserted us and now hang out uphill at Al Gagnon's.

The raccoons and skunks made an appearance recently, tested the weather and went back into hibernation.

A large coyote trotted down Mill Road in front of Larry Nelson's car on Thursday.

The bald eagles are nesting in an undisclosed area. Let's make the bald eagle the "Bird of the Week," with hope that it will be another successful hatch.

Best wishes to Mike Murphy who has been "under the weather." Birds gotta fly Mike, so flap your wings.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The Rumford Point Community Athletic Association will meet

Sunday, March 28, at 6 p.m. at the Hanover Town Office to choose officers for the 2004 season. All parents with children six through 15 who would like to participate in one of the baseball programs are invited to attend.

The Hanover Board of Assessors has announced plans for a meeting at the Hanover Town Office for Saturday, April 3, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. This is the annual "Dooms Day" event where property owners can meet with the assessors to discuss their property appraisals. Anyone with questions about their property taxes should try to be at the meeting. Also, any applications for exemptions for Homestead, veterans, or other reasons should be submitted by then. In Hanover the assessors are Bruce Powell, Brenda Lee Gross and Scott Gould.

Joan and Gordon Howe have returned home following a motor trip to Alabama to visit their son, Andy, and his family. They were away for several weeks.

Louise Worcester arrived home from the Central Maine

Medical Center by ambulance last Friday. She is continuing her recovery from an infection and earlier surgery.

Hanover Deputy Clerk Kelly Crockett has returned home from a Florida vacation. She reports having a good time despite children with sickness, allergies and dog bites.

Local members of the Knights of Pythias attended the John F. Burton Memorial Bowling Tournament at Oxford Lanes in Rumford. The event, which was sponsored by Cabot Lodge 117 in Andover, brought 17 five-member towns from all around Maine to the area. Following the bowling a banquet was served and awards presented. The top team came from Schoodic Lodge in Gouldsboro. The Cabot Lodge team consisting of Orville Meisner, Hershel Hall, David White, Craig Turner and Keith Farrington finished in seventh place. Next year's tournament will be in Brewer.

Alder River Grange will have a regular meeting on March 26 at the Hall. There will be a 6 p.m. potluck supper and the meeting at 7 p.m.

Albert Foster will celebrate his birthday on April 5.

Lindsey Keith, daughter of James and Celeste Keith, had a call back for the movie that is to be filmed in Bethel.

AJ Keith will be a player on one of Bethel's major baseball teams. They hold practice sessions in the field house at Gould Academy now.

Jack and Tricia Chappie will be getting a new prefab house later this spring. They went to North Conway, N.H., on March 21. The snow was coming down hard going to North Conway.

Ruby Coolidge was in a clogging demo in the Rumford Community Variety Show on March 20. Ruby said it was a fun drive home what with the "sap" snow.

I do hope this little dab of snow on the 20th is the last snow. This is Maine in March; we are apt to get more snow, but one can hope.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

Greenwood City

by Rena Curtis

Another week gone by. We got a little more snow but not what they expected, which was good.

Ann Holt of town, David Holt and Sally Holt of Norway visited their parents, Sunday, Leonas and Fay Holt.

Albert Curtis Jr. visited me Sunday. Also, William Curtis and Ray Curtis visited me Saturday. He also visited his brother, Carl Curtis.

Monday, I was surprised when my son, Walter Curtis of Kingsbury, visited me for quite a while. He also visited with Carl Curtis. My son, Kenneth of Kentucky, called and said that their flowers are blossoming and the pussy willows are out and that he will have to mow his lawn this week.

Marie Curtis and I were shopping at Lewiston and Auburn recently.

Have had several different birds come to feeders lately.

Quote for the week: "Consideration for others can mean taking a wing instead of a drumstick."

That's it for this week. We're still waiting for our town reports. Suppose they'll be here soon. Have a good week and have a safe one.

Melissa Straus celebrated her 11th birthday on March 12 with her parents and grandparents, Sylvia and Bill Wight.

Call to worship was held Sunday morning, at 9 a.m., at the Wight's residence with Pastor Rodney Hanscom and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "Waiting for the hammer to fall," from St. Luke, 13:9. "And if it bear fruit, well; and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down." Scripture readings by Nancy, Sue B. and Owen Wight. A prayer followed, hymns sung, benediction and postlude. Amen.

A memorial service for Karlene Bachelder's mother, Julia Goodwin, was held at The Sunset Home in Waterville on Monday, March 15, with about 30 relatives and friends.

Brown lawns, bare trees, muddy roads and cold winds but it is spring. All will change shortly. Later we will be complaining with the heat. The snow has just left the flower bed but frozen brown leaves still cover the bulbs.

There is no color peeping up yet. Near the porch where the snow slid off the roof is about two feet of hard snow. The crocuses are under there somewhere and will surprise me in a few days.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday March 28, will be a service presented by the Norway Universalist Youth Group. The time is 9 a.m. with a coffee hour following.

Class of 2002 Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame

Fever group worked with fun fur knitting scarves. It was led by Cil Rice and will continue next Thursday. Several of us do not even know how to knit, but those that did were patient with us and all got one started. The yarn is colorful and fun to work with. Good luck to all next week as they will be finishing them. We will have to have a style show later.

Last Sunday, my twin granddaughters celebrated their birthday. I had lost track of their age but learned it to be a big one of 30. It was held in Waterboro at Kyra and Gene Flarety's and daughter Molly's new home in a new development in the woods on a dirt road. I could never have found it by myself even with my written directions. Kelly and husband Cameron Hartley and son Nicolas gave me a ride from Auburn. Their mother, Jude Lamb, and Rob from Lamoine were there. Jude had made books of her pregnancy with the birthday twins with pictures, especially because Kelly is expecting twins in August. Quite a work of art. We all enjoyed them but need to have more time to read it all. Jude is clever with making books and sews them together. All had a good time and enjoyed the luncheon and cakes. Most say they don't eat frosted cake, then did just that. The Boston cream pie went well. Peggy Lamb and Mike Seaton from Augusta, Nina and Rob Hysong and Joshua and Emily were also there. The girls' father, Mike McLaughlin and friend Pauline Dunn of Poland, enjoyed the party, too.

A week ago I attended two funerals of local people and again this week two more away. One of my classmates from Buckfield High School, Bill Jones, died at the Veteran's home. In a small school over 50 years ago all classes including high school were in one building. Several of us started sub primary together and graduated together 13 years later. Bill was one of them. And a cousin in Auburn, who was 91, was buried from the Auburn Methodist Church. Florence McLaughlin of the American Legion Auxiliary attended the Past Presidents' Supper at the Cinnamon Stick Restaurant in Bethel. Buffy is still enjoying the warm black driveway to nap and roll. Sweeping the area near the garage does help to keep him a little cleaner.

West Paris

by Bertha DeHaas

On the afternoon of Sunday, March 14, the citizens of West Paris held a reception at the Town Hall to welcome our new town manager, Don Woodbury, and his wife, Carol. We had a nice afternoon with people coming and going, becoming acquainted, visiting and enjoying a bountiful and delicious buffet. Welcome to our fair town, Don and Carol.

The Agnes L. Gray and Legion Memorial schools' news is as follows: There will be an "Early Out" on March 25 at 12:30 p.m. because of a teachers' workshop that afternoon. There will be no school on March 26 because of the teachers' workshop.

The 21st Century After School Program for grades one through six starts on March 29 with Mike Miclon, the juggler, at the Agnes L. Gray School from 3:05 to 6 p.m. This group will meet Monday through Friday from 3:05 to 6 p.m. For more information call 674-2332.

The Pre-K Club will meet at the Legion Memorial School on March 31 from 6 to 7 p.m. for students starting school in September. Parents please bring your four- and five-year-olds to this.

There is now a new "Silent Reading" program for students K through six every Thursday from 1:30 to 1:50 p.m. school wide.

If we thought we were busy at times this winter, wait until spring and April arrive, the first two weeks especially. West Paris Grange No. 298 will have their first spring meeting on April 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the hall (Thursday).

On Saturday, April 3, we will put on a benefit supper for Calla and Jeff Tyler at Jackson Silver American Legion Hall, Gore Road, Locke Mills at 5:30 p.m. Music by Richard G. Felt Band. Cost is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12. There will be door prizes and a 50/50 drawing.

Happy birthday to Desmond Cox who is celebrating his birthday on March 27. He is the son of Jan Cox of Bethel and Wesley Cox of South Woodstock.

Desirae Cox, who was prom queen at TMS, is also the daughter of Jan Cox of Bethel. Congrats, Desirae.

Saturday afternoon Phelps and Joan Poland, Richard and I went out to lunch at the Village Inn in Auburn to celbrate our anniversaries this month. We had a short visit with Tommy and Gwenneth Berryment who were also enjoying lunch.

After lunch we spent some time at the Sarah Frye Home visiting with Florence Watson. She seems quite well and in good spirits. We had a good time visiting with her. It seems to be a very nice place. Florence is our stepmother. I will try to get by to see her again soon.

Frank Frazer gave Richard a jar of maple syrup he made from his own sap orchard here on the hill. We had to have some french toast to try it out. It was delicious.

Tracy Poland is working at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway in the registration department.

I've been busy painting the woodwork in several rooms of our home; it gives everything an uplift. Jessie Hart is helping me do some spring-cleaning.

Spring will be legally here by the time you read this news. Hopefully it will be warm and no more snow.

Rosalie Poland had an operation recently. I wish her a speedy recovery.

Hadleys celebrate 45th

Martha and Glendon Hadley celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Feb. 1. To note the occasion, their five children hosted a surprise social on Saturday evening, Jan. 31.

Many guests of family and friends dropped by to visit, reminisce and, of course, laugh about the past 45 years that this couple has shared together. This informal gathering allowed everyone to mingle and talk with Martha and Glendon and enjoy some light refreshments and cake.

Photos of days gone by were there for all to see, also. This was held at the Thurlow Hall in Woodstock next to Martha and Glendon's Woodstock Seventh Day Adventist Church where they are members.

Both are employed at Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris.

Last week, I neglected to mention the 6th birthday of David Hart III of Waterford, son of Enid Cummings of Waterford and David Hart Jr. of Stoneham. Hope your birthday was great.

This Saturday is the Pole Paddle and Paw, a very fun race where entrants, pole (cross-country ski), paddle (canoe), and Paw (snowshoe). This year they should be able to do all, as the river is open and there is still snow on the ground. It begins at Sunday River Cross Country Center. Check it out. It is a nice drive. FMI: 824-2410.

Dave and I attended the Rotary Breakfast on Sunday and had a great time. The food was good and we got to see friends from all over the Bethel area and from the Oxford Hills area, too. It was a little high on the cholesterol level, but it was the last fling before a new low cholesterol, low fat diet. It is spring, after all and time to start the new diet.

On that note I must end, as it may be spring but my fingers are freezing and typing every other letter wrong. Have a great week.

It's spring, or so they say, but it sure feels like winter. It was about 5 degrees this a.m., but at least the wind was down. I am waiting for a little warmer weather so we can begin the promised walking. I may wait a long time. Tasha would settle for a five to ten-minute walk no matter how cold it is. Although I notice that as she ages she is more into warmth. She likes lying by the stove in the evening. Soon that will end as the shedding season begins. Till then, she is luxuriating in

CRESCENT PARK SCHOOL NEWS!

Tuesday, March 2nd was Read Across America in honor of Dr. Seuss's 100th birthday. Tracy Morin visited the second grade classes at CPS and read There's a Wocket in My Pocket. Students received a coloring book entitled Greeting from America. The book is filled with pages of postage stamps for the students to color. Our own creations of Dr. Seuss's postage stamps will be displayed at the Bethel Post Office.

First graders in Mrs. Salway's classroom practices counting coins by purchasing items at a class store. Shown is Travis Wheeler making his purchase with his parent volunteer dad, Dan Wheeler. Students also practices using the terms, consumer and products at this learning center.

Kindergarteners in Mrs. Sabin's classroom at Crescent Park recently went on a Cross-Country excursion. Under the guidance of Kirk and Martha Siegel and Eric Wight, the students practiced a variety of warm-ups and learned the "dead bug" technique of getting up after a fall. The children, with the support of several hearty parents and grandparents, then skied on the groomed trails surrounding the Crescent Park School playground.

March 2 was Read Across America Day so Title 1/Literacy teacher Mary Fenstermacher of Crescent Park School decided to share her writing efforts with some kindergarten classes to help celebrate the event. For many years the misconception that penguins live only in lands of snow and ice (Antarctica) has reigned in the classroom. A visit to a wildlife habitat in Nevada prompted Mrs. Fenstermacher to write a children's book Pablo Penguin Visits the Desert correcting this misnomer.

Woodstock Elementary School News

In honor of Dr. Seuss's birthday and Read Across America Week, Angie Morin, from the US Post Office, visited the Woodstock School. She read a Dr. Seuss story to the first and second grade children and showed them the new Dr. Seuss Stamp. Each child had an opportunity to create a Dr. Seuss stamp which will be displayed at the Bryant Pond Post Office. Shown in this picture are Mrs. Morin, Alex Hoyt, and Katelyn Billings. The bulletin board display represents both the Dr. Seuss Stamp and the Woodstock School's Reading Is Fundamental Grant.

The Second Graders at the Woodstock school had a surprise visit from "Samantha Skunk" (Monica Helms) recently. The kids enjoyed the visit very much and got a lot of good information about tobacco and not smoking.

The 'Twelve Dogs of Christmas' gets rolling

The family-oriented movie "The Twelve Dogs of Christmas," set in the 1930s, is about a small town where the town council is not dog-friendly. Instead, canines often end up in a 'dog orphanage.' Shooting for the independent film started this week, and will utilize many local extras, both human and canine. On Tuesday, Jordan Claire Green and Michael Howard (right) acted in a scene that included several huskies. As they did, a pup named Gibson (below right) stood just out of camera range in order to entice the huskies to jump around and bark. When the shooting was done, Gibson got a little positive reinforcement from the film's director, Kieth Merrill. The cast and crew have also shot scenes at Gould Academy.

A RECORD BOOKWORM—Karen DeCarolis' first grade class at Crescent Park School does a reading bookworm project throughout the school year. The pupils fill out one circle for the bookworm's body for every book that they read at home with family or friends. DeCarolis' has done the project annually for several years to encourage the pupils to pursue reading outside of the classroom, and to practice those reading skills that they are just learning in class. The greatest number of books read for circles in previous years has been 4,025, read by last year's class. They worked on collecting circles from Sept. 2 to May 26. This year's group started reading for circles on Sept. 15, and has already read about 6,400 books. The class is pictured here at the "head" of the bookworm, which has climbed to the second floor of the school. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

Before Buying a Home!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what you would like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, must have, should have and would be nice to have. By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

YOSHIKO K. DAVIS
Yoshiko "Josie" K. Davis, 71, of South Paris died Sunday, March 21, 2004 at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

She was born in Tokyo, Japan on Jan. 10, 1933, the eldest daughter of Fumiji and Tsune Aoki Koyama, and a direct descendant of the Daimyo Koyama clan with lineage back to 1185. She was educated in Tokyo schools and following graduation from Jissen Girls High School in 1947 was employed for a number of years at Miyata Manufacturing and as a projectionist at the Hollywood Theater in Tokyo.

Edith Mills Hanington Moberg of Ashlar Village in Wallingford, Conn., formerly a resident of Watertown, Conn., died at her home on March 18, 2004 at the age of 101.

Mrs. Moberg was born in Calais, to Leonard John Guthrie Hanington and Annie Clapp Collins Hanington on Oct. 17, 1902. She married Edgar E. Moberg in Newtown, Conn., on Dec. 21, 1940. Mr. Moberg predeceased her on Jan. 1, 1984.

She graduated from Calais Academy in Calais, and received her B.A. degree from the University of Maine in Orono, in 1925. She was awarded her M.A. degree by Bread Loaf School of English, which is part of Middlebury College in Middlebury, Vt. In addition she studied at Harvard University and Cambridge University in Cambridge, England.

Mrs. Moberg taught at Watertown, Conn., High School for forty years and maintained friendships with many of her students for the rest of her life. Her memberships included Delta Delta Delta, Delta Kappa Gamma, and First Congregational Church of Watertown, and she was a life member of the National Association of Retired Teachers, the Association of Retired Teachers of Connecticut and the Association of Retired Teachers of Litchfield County, Conn. She and her husband spent many happy summers at their cottage in Locke Mills where they enjoyed sharing the produce from their vegetable garden and were regular attendees at the Union Church.

She requested that her two favorite poems be included in her obituary:

"The book is completed,
As the close of the day.
And the hand that has written it
Lays it away."

"Weep not, my friends;
Rather, rejoice.
I have no pain;
But I am gone
And you have
One more good friend in heaven."

Start not at the squeaking of the door
Through which I pass.
I see what lives beyond it."

Survivors include several nieces and nephews. A memorial service will be held at Ashlar Village in Wallingford on Friday afternoon, April 23 at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to either the Watertown High School Library, 324 French Street, Watertown, CT 06795 or to the Locke Mills Union Church, P.O. When an old life ends

Take up a new one with grace & dignity

Embrace your family

Be kind and patient with the young and the yappy

Don't bite back

Lie on the porch in the shade or the sun-shine

Keep an eye out

Meet the school bus

Supervise the children

Keep your lady company

She is your anchor

Hang out in the kitchen

Do the dance dances

Wait for the gravy

Greet your man

Lick his hands

Ride to the dump

Give the big trucks hell

It's your street

Go to Brooks for greets and treats

Put ears on account

Go for walks

Visit

Wag your tail

Play every chance you get

Know your neighbors

Be nice to cats

Avoid the Dog Catcher

Let the doctor clean your teeth

And clip your nails

Be brave

Cherish the last snowbank

Bury stuff in mulch piles

Spring will come

Dig in the dirt

Make a cool nest

Enjoy the garden

Be a gentleman, always

Keep a schedule

Command your space

If you outlive your friends

Keep the faith

Remember the good days

When the time comes

Look to that rainbow bridge

Till we meet again

See you there, Red
